INDIANS SPLIT WITH SPIDERS; WIN FROM YELLOW JACKETS

Randolph-Macon Is Licked By Indians

William and Mary Bats and Fields Like a Real Ball Club and Easily Wins Game

Showing a complete reversal of form over last Saturday's exhibition against the University of Richmond, Coach Driver's William and Mary nine batted and fielded like fiends behind the excellent pitching of Richmond and easily defeated Randolph-Macon by a 9 to 1 score at Ashland today.

Richmond let the Yellow Jackets down with four widely scattered hits. The Indians pilfered eight sacks on the path.

The hitting, base running and fielding of Hicks, Indian shortstop, was a feature of the contest. Hicks contributed a double, a single and three runs in five trips to the plate; he stole three bases, and made spectacular catches of hard driven fly balls in the sixth and seventh.

Claude Bragdon Ad-dresses Student Body

Is Designer of New George Preston Blow Memorial Gymnasium

"In the architecture of past ages, as in a crystal mirror, can be read the hopes, the dreams, the aspirations of vanished generations of men," said Mr. Claude Bragdon, the architect who has designed the new George Preston Blow Memorial Gymnasium, speaking in the chapel Monday night.

"This being so," continued Mr. Bragdon, "let us look for a moment into the mirror of American architecture and see if it does not publish our spiritual history and declare our true estate."

The "mirror" was then held successively to the architecture of the different periods of America's history, beginning with the Colonial Mt. Vernon which, in its restored state, is "almost the mirror image of the man, Washington, just as Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, is the brick and stone presentment of the habits, tastes and beliefs of the fathers of the Republic who met there. In this very building where we are now gathered—itself a nursery of some of those same men—devastated and denuded as it has been—we perceive a love of form, of order, of simple, dignified living far different from the tastes and desires current today."

JOHN POWELL
Pianist and Composer

John Powell To Give Piano Recital Friday Evening

That John Powell, who is to give a piano recital here tonight, is destined to become Paderewski's successor, is the opinion of no less than H. T. Finck, the veteran critic of the New York Evening Post. In the November 14 issue of that newspaper he has the following to say of Powell:

"It is reported on good authority that Ignace Jan Paderewski is practicing daily. If that is true, he will appear again on the concert stage next season, and it is, therefore, fortunately, too soon to speak of his mantle having fallen; but the pianist on whom it will descend when it does fall is an American hailing from Virginia, John Powell, by name."

Mr. Powell's recital, which is for the benefit of the student gymnasium fund, will be held in Jefferson Hall. General admission will be $1.00, while there will be a limited number of reserved seats at $1.50.

Mr. Powell made his American debut in 1913, and won immediate recognition from the critics as a virtuoso of outstanding significance. Since his debut, Mr. Powell has appeared as soloist with all the foremost symphony orchestras in the country. Beside his engagements, his re-engagements alone total four hundred appearances in one hundred cities.

As composer, Mr. Powell symbolizes Americanism; his inspiration takes root in the soil of his native land. In his widely popular "Rhapsodie Negre" he deals with the intensely American problem, the psychology of the American negro.

Mr. Powell is coming to Williamsburg at a considerable sacrifice, owing to his interest in the College, and it is hoped that a large audience will be present to hear his performance.

Hon. Guy D. Goff Speaker On Monroe Day At College

The College of William and Mary observed April 28 as Monroe Day, in commemoration of the 165th Anniversary of the birth of James Monroe, a distinguished alumnus of this College. Honorable Guy D. Goff, Assistant to the Attorney-General of the United States, delivered the principal address, taking as his subject, "The Monroe Doctrine in Its Challenge to Bolshevism."

The speaker declared that today James Monroe speaks "and warns all mankind that when he forbade any interference by foreign governments in American affairs, he likewise served irrevocable notice on the peoples of those systems, and on their descendants, even unto eternity, that neither they nor their exploded fallacies of Socialism, Bolshevism, and Anarchy shall ever be allowed to enter and remain in this country to challenge the immortal principles of the 'Republic across the sea!' The old doctrine in its new warning is clearly and unmistakably this: The United States of America is Liberty, Democracy and Decency, which means without reserve America for Americans, and none other than loyal, proud, self-respecting American Citizens."

In referring to the American fundamentals of government, he asserted that "the cornerstone of American life is liberty, equality and fraternity. These essentials are proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence and defined in the Constitution of the United States. This is not a Government of absolute powers. It is a Government of clearly defined and specially designated powers, and the Constitution embodies and reflects these fundamental principles. The Constitution is not a static instrument, but an ever-changing document, sensitive from generation to generation to the needs

Anonymous Gift of $25,000 Made To College

Last week President Chandler made the announcement that at that time there was still a shortage of $60,000 in the amount needed to be raised to complete the fund for the building of the new dormitory. Last Monday he announced an anonymous gift of $25,000 to the fund, which brings the total need down to the $35,000 mark. This generous gift from a friend of the College brings the goal much nearer. Plans for the new dormitory and the George Preston Blow Memorial Gymnasium are well under way, and it is to be hoped that work will begin on both within a short time.

Hobbie Snead Driven To Showers By Indians

Twenty-Five Hundred Spectators Witness Battle Between Old Rivals

Playing before a crowd of more than 2,500 spectators, a large proportion of whom were students and alumni of the two institutions, Coach Driver's Indians outthit Dobson's Spiders in the pinches and won an 11 to 7 victory for William and Mary.

Although the Spiders counted for eleven hits to the Indians' ten, six of the local safeties went for extra bases, two triples and four doubles wreaking damage which the Spider machine was unable to overcome. The Spiders had two excellent chances to come back, once in the fifth and once in the sixth, but the necessary punch was not forthcoming. With only one away in the fifth, Thompson walked three in a row, but emerged unscathed when A. Creath struck out, and S. Creath went out from short to first for the third out of the inning.

Spiders Score Twice

After having scored twice in the sixth, the Spiders filled the sacks with two down only to have the side retired on an easy infield out. Twelve Spider runners were left stranded on the paths, while the Indians wasted only five. The Spiders made a desperate attempt to win in the ninth when, with one gone, Pendleton, pinch hitting for Miller, drove one of Thompson's fast ones over the left center wall for the circuit with one man on the path. The next two bat-

Judge Feidelson To Deliver Lecture Next Wednesday Evening

Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity met Thursday night, May 3, in the Journalism Room.

Judge Feidelson, an honorary member of the Society, was present, and expressed his willingness to deliver his lecture on "Upstream" for the benefit of the Gymnasium Fund. As Wednesday night was most convenient, it was decided to give the lecture under the joint auspices of the Y. W. and Sigma Upsilon.

Judge Feidelson also reported the acceptance by the Poets' Club, of Norfolk, of the invitation of the Society to hold a reading at William and Mary. The reading will be held on Saturday, May 19. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Granted Leave Of Absence

Cary Franklin Jacob, Professor of English, has been granted a leave of absence during the session of 1923-24. Dr. Jacob came to the College as Professor of English and Literature in the fall of 1919, and since that time has been in charge of the Freshman English courses of the College, besides teaching several advanced courses in Literature and Expression.

It is understood that ill health is the cause of his taking the leave of absence from the faculty.

Y. W. Installs Officers For Next Year

Installation services for the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and officers for the following year were held in Chapel last week. After the new President, Mildred Vaiden, had taken the oath, she called the officers-elect to come forward and light their candles from the lights carried by those whom they succeeded. The candle-light, the white worn by members of the old and new cabinets, and the impressive Y. W. ritual gave a beautiful effect.

The new cabinet left Friday morning to attend the South Atlantic Y. W. Conference at Westhampton.

Richmond Licks Indians In Comedy Of Errors 11 to 7

In a comedy of errors marred, if possible, by "Heinie Zimmerman" base running on the part of the Indians, the Spiders broke the William and Mary jinx and won their first game over Driver's team in eight starts by 11 to 7 score, which, incidentally, was the same score by which the Indians won from the Spiders on Monday. The exhibition of the national pastime, presented by the two college nines, recognized to be among the first in the State, more nearly resembled an average Kiwanis-Rotarian game than a fight for titular honors of Virginia collegiate teams.

The bitter rivalry that exists between the two institutions undoubtedly accounted in part for ragged playing. The Spiders, with two gone in the third inning, found Cox's delivery for five hits, which, with the assistance of J. Chandler's costly error on A. Creath's grounder, netted them four runs and a lead which the Indians were unable to overcome. Four Indian runners were caught napping off bases by the Spider fielders.

Indians Close 1923 Baseball Season On Thursday

THREE STARS CLOSE CAREERS

The Indians closed their 1923 baseball season here Thursday when they met the strong Hampden-Sidney nine. Thursday marked the close of Jimmie Driver's coaching career at William and Mary, where he has developed so many athletes in every branch of sport during his five years' mentorship here. Ferdie Chandler, star catcher and slugger for five years (one on S. A. T. C. year); Alva Cooke, Captain of 1923 nine, brilliant first baseman and timely hitter for four years; and Otto Lowe, recognized as possibly the cleverest third baseman in Virginia and as a dangerous hitter for the allotted four years, closed their College careers with the game Thursday. Lowe is still on crutches as the result of an injury received in first Quantico game.

Saffelle, who has been going very well all season, occupied the mound for the Indians, with the veteran Ferdie Chandler receiving.

Indian Racketers Defeat Jackets

While the William and Mary diamond artists were winning from the University of Richmond, the Indian racketers were adding another scalp to their athletic belt by defeating the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets here. William and Mary won every set, duplicating their feat of the first encounter at Ashland. Marshall, a freshman, played well.

Summary: Wilshin defeated Kent 6-4, 6-2; Marshall defeated Hughes 6-3, 6-1; Cline defeated Keene 6-4, 6-2; Wilshin and Cline defeated Kent and Baum 6-2, 8-6; Peterson and Marshall defeated Keene and Hughes 6-love, 6-3.

Cline and Wilshin Compete In Doubles In Middle- Atlantic Tournament

William and Mary sent F. F. Cline and F. F. Wilshin to compete in the doubles at the Middle-Atlantic tennis tournament which was held in Richmond on the Country Club courts May 11-12. Cline and Wilshin, both of whom are seniors, have starred on the local courts for the past three years, being runners up in the doubles at the Middle Atlantic tournaments last year.

HERE AND THERE

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION RULING FAVORS WILLIAM AND MARY

At the recent annual meeting of the V.-C. I. A. A., it was decided that the eligibility rules as laid down in the Constitution will not go into effect until October of the coming year. By so doing, the Conference renders the services of Hastings, Chalkley, Pete Williams, Keister, and Mike Joyner available for the 1923 William and Mary eleven. With the whole team of '22, except White and Chandler, returning next fall, and with even a fair amount of new material, the battle for places on Coach Tasker's eleven ought to be a fight worth coming a long way to see. The fight will be especially interesting between those men who got their chance near the close of the last season by virtue of the suspensions and the men whose places they fell heir to. The old men will have to redouble their former efforts if they are to regain their old berths from the more recent occupants of those positions. What ever the outcome may be, it will certainly work a good for the team.

Lots of competition is needed in order to keep every body going at top speed. Then there is Lee Todd, brother of "our" John, and several more likely looking prep school products who expect to be on hand when positions are awarded this fall. According to present indications, William and Mary will have another good year in football. Incidentally, since Richmond broke our baseball jinx, doesn't every one think it is about time for us to break their foot ball jinx?

RICHMOND LOOKS LIKE A COMER

Judging from the lanky Alexandrian's performance against Quantico Marines and Randolph-Macon, it looks like Richmond will, with a little more training, make one of the best pitchers in Virginia college circles. He has a good assortment of hooks and a very deceptive slow ball, and speed—he has a world of it. After the natural beginner's fright in the first couple of innings, Richmond held the Quantico sluggers powerless for the remainder of the contest. At Ashland Monday, Richmond allowed the Yellow Jackets only four widely scattered hits, only two men reaching third during the contest. Two wins in the two starts is his record for the season. Coach Driver predicts a bright career for Richmond; and Jimmie Driver is seldom fooled when it comes to baseball players. Richmond had worked hard for two years before he came through, so we congratulate him as much for his determination and hard work as we do for his ability.

Capt. "Tack" Cooke drew an extremely tough break at Ashland when he drove a line drive well over left field wall, only to have the ball strike the trunk of a tree which stood just on the other side of the fence, and bound back into the park. The Yellow Jacket fielder recovered the pill in time to stop Cooke at second base. "Taint fair," Tack, 'cause trees ought not be allowed to stand in such close proximity to a ball park pence.

INDIANS TO ENTER MOORE, CHANDLER, AND RANGELEY IN SOUTH ATLANTICS

Rangeley, shot putter, Capt. Chandler, half-miler, and Moore, Indians' star javelin thrower, are entering the preliminaries in the annual South Atlantic meet at Richmond today. While it is expecting a great deal and against the best track talent in the East, we expect at least one and perhaps two of these men to survive the preliminaries.

Moore's chances look to be the best for placing Saturday.

GYM FUND

May 12 is the date set for the closing of the campaign launched by the Gym Fund Committee. To date, about one-third of the $10,000 goal has been pledged. This week will mark the last drive for the Gym Fund. If there are any students who feel that they should contribute to the Fund, do so at once. Of course, the College would not have any one give to the Gym Fund who does not feel that it is his duty.

If you want to make a small contribution, buy your ticket to the recital given by John Powell, the famous pianist and composer, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock in Jefferson Hall. If you wish to make another small contribution, come to the lecture, which will be given by Judge C. N. Feidelson in the Chapel Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The admission fee will be twenty-five cents. The title of his lecture is "Up Stream," based on a book of that name recently published.

DOWNING RAISED $213 FOR GYM FUND

George Downing, a member of the Senior Class, has raised $213 for the Gym Fund. His largest contribution solicited is $100. The Gym Fund Committee congratulates him for his splendid success.

MR. SHEWMAKE'S RESIGNATION FROM FACULTY

The resignation of Mr. O. L. Shewmake, Professor of Constitutional History and Law, comes as a surprise to the students of the College. He is one of the most popular members of the faculty, and his resignation has caused a vacancy which cannot be filled.

The student body wishes him the greatest success in assuming his former duties as general counsel to the State Corporation Commission. Mr. Shewmake succeeds John Randolph Tucker, who was successor to Mr. Shewmake in 1919.

RUBBER GAME

Great would be the pleasure to see the Indians meet the Spiders in the rubber game on neutral territory, and see the Indians circle the bases for that decisive victory which they owe to the Spiders. Coach Driver is anxious to see his nine play this game, but Dobson remains mute to Driver's challenge. Perhaps, Dobson knows what destiny holds in store for his Spider nine. Let's have the rubber game played and decide which team is the stronger, the Indian or the Spider. As the record of each team remains now, V. M. I. can justly claim the State championship.

O. D. K. TO ELECT FIVE NEW MEMBERS

The Omicron Delta Kappa Honorary Society will elect three under-graduates and two members from the faculty to complete the quota of the Eta Circle. Membership in this organization is a coveted honor. The qualifications for membership are based on prominence in scholarship, athletics, literary, forensic and social activities.

Following the simplicity and dignity of the Colonial period came the so-called "Classic Revival" and the farms and villages of this new land were dotted with miniature Greek and Roman temples and villas. But taudry as this was, it was succeeded by something even worse—the Victorian, or architecturally speaking, the "Iron Dog Age," which, according to Mr. Bragdon, "had no unity save that of ugliness."

The movement inaugurated in England by William Morris and others made no real impression upon America, and its apostle, Oscar Wilde, who visited this country succeeded only in making "some few aware of the unmitigated ugliness of their environment without giving them power to remedy it."

Following the Victorian era came the age of the sky-scraper, symbols of the industrialism and expansion of the twentieth century, and which are "products neither of love nor joy nor worship, but are only enclosures for the transactions of sharp bargains."

Mr. Bragdon struck a hopeful note in conclusion, however: "The fact is that these evils are, after all, good in the making, that power, sooner or later, sometimes by devious ways, translates itself into beauty—and power is surely ours. The future of architecture is in our young hands. Everywhere, in the younger generation, I see a sensitiveness to beauty. The future of architecture depends, as I said in the beginning, on the quality and nature of our thought. Schools, money, and the power to build avail us nothing, the quality of our thought, the depth of our desire, the seriousness and nobility of our purpose will alone determine the ultimate character of our architecture, determine whether we perish on our rubbish heap or write on space a message worthy to endure."

of the most progressive nation in the world. In its essential principles are to be found the social, the political, the moral and the religious philosophy of the ages."

Mr. Goff declared that "the world today is afflicted with impoverishment, unrest and misinformation, a poisoning of the public mind against the very safeguards of free institutions. Mankind is thinking too much of its rights, and too little of its duties. We are justified in seeking our rights, but not in seeking them blindly. There must be no betterment of class at the expense of humanity. There must be a change in the individual attitude. The issue is moral, not political. We must stop thinking in terms of class and begin to think and act in terms of impartial justice. . . . Every person is a national servant; otherwise he has no rights and is entitled to no consideration under our form of government."

In discussing the attitude of labor, the Communists, the Socialists, the I. W. W.'s, the speaker stated that "All men must stand up and be counted. Those who do not believe in the Constitution of the United States are against us. This government should stop conciliating those who talk against it." He declared that, "the gravest danger is the profound ignorance of the average educated American in respect to America's greatest contribution to the science of government. It is amazing how few of our very best men and women know either the history or the provisions of the Constitution." In conclusion, he said that "Any man who owes a higher allegiance to any organization than he does to the Government of the United States should be sent to a Federal prison or deported to a country which gives him his peculiar liberty."

Notice To Pre-medical Students

There is indication that the enrollment in the Medical Schools will be large next year, and that some schools will have all available places filled earlier than usual. It is, therefore, important that students intending to enter Medical School next fall make applications early.

It is suggested that every student intending to enter Medical College next year send immediately for application blanks and have them filled out promptly. Recommendations called for should also be sent promptly.

I have a supply of application blanks for the Medical College of Virginia (Richmond), which I shall be glad to distribute. Please call at one of the hours given below, at my office,

Chi Delta Phi Meets In Jefferson Hall

Theta Chapter of Chi Delta Phi met at ten o'clock last night in Jefferson Hall. The subject of the program, given by Elise Eades, was Stephen Leacock. Miss Eades read "The Greek Drama as Presented in Our Colleges," one of his series of articles on "The Theatre as I See It."

DAVY EXPERIMENTING WITH

GARNETT IN THE ROYAL SOCIETY

The First Electrochemist

NITROUS oxide, according to the science of a century ago, was "the principle of contagion when respired by animals in the minutest quantities." Mere say-so.

Imaginative yet skeptical Humphrey Davy, who believed in experiment rather than in opinion, "respired" it and lived.

It was this restless desire to test beliefs that made him one of the founders of modern science. Electricity was a new force a century ago. Davy used it to decompose potash, soda, and lime into potassium, sodium, and calcium, thus laying the foundations of electrochemistry. With a battery of two thousand plates he produced the first electric arc—harbinger of modern electric illumination and of the electric furnace.

Czar Alexander I and Napoleon met on a raft to sign the Treaty of Tilsit while Davy was revealing the effects of electricity on matter. "What is Europe?" said Alexander. "We are Europe."

The treaty was at that time an important political event, framed by two selfish monarchs for the sole purpose of furthering their personal interests. Contrast with it the unselfish efforts of Sir Humphrey Davy. His brilliant work has resulted in scores of practical applications of electrolysis in industry and a wealth of chemical knowledge that benefit not himself but the entire world.

In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company, for instance, much has been done to improve the electric furnace (a development of Davy's arc) and new compounds have been electrochemically produced, which make it easier to cast high-conductivity copper, to manufacture special tool steels, and to produce carbides for better arc lamps.

Indians Take Game From Yellow Jackets

William and Mary Gets Good Lead by Hits in Eighth Inning

In a game that was anybody's until the eighth, when the Indians found Yancey, Randolph-Macon hurler's delivery for three hits which, combined with a passed third strike, netted the William and Mary team three five scores and putting the game on ice for the Indians.

Both teams worked well until the sixth, when erratic fielding by the two infields gave the Indians three runs and Yellow Jackets one. Only one run off each pitcher was earned up to the sixth inning. Cox had much the better of the pitching argument and allowed the Yellow Jackets seven hits and one earned run. Yancey kept the Indian hits pretty well scattered until the fatal eighth, when Hicks took a swing on a wide one on his third strike and reached second before Hardison could recover the ball. Hicks scored a moment later when Cooke landed on a fast one for a clean double to center; Cooke scored on Denton's single to left; Denton stole second and counted on J. Chandler's safety down the third-base line.

Class In Business Statistics Distrib- utes Questionnaires

The Class in Business Statistics, taught by Mr. C. C. Fichtner, has completed a questionnaire, after much study of the likes and dislikes of the students, which they are to be distributed among the students in the class-rooms.

Typical questions included in the questionnaire are: What were your reasons for selecting William and Mary? What do you estimate your expenses to be this year at William and Mary? What vocation do you expect to follow? Do you contemplate university work? At what university? What do you consider the most valuable courses at William and Mary (a) from a cultural point of view, (b) from a utilitarian point of view? Which do you consider the highest honor, an athletic monogram or the Phi Beta Kappa Key?

Such questions, if answered conscientiously by a good number of the students, should prove of great value and interest. Just how valuable they will be, however, will depend largely upon the amount of co-operation shown by the students in answering them. Those who are to read and summarize these questionnaires are bound to secrecy so that no one need fear that his confidence will be violated.

Pictures At Palace Theatre This Week

MONDAY and TUESDAY

Douglas Fairbanks, in "The Three Musketeers," is coming to the Palace on Monday and Tuesday. This picture gave Doug his greatest chance, and he made good with a bang. The picture is based not only upon the novel by Alexander Dumas, but also upon the memoirs of D'Artagnan himself.

WEDNESDAY

For Wednesday the picture is "Broken Chains," an Allen Holubar production, with an all star cast. This picture has a especial entertaining value, and is built upon a gripping plot.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

In "Adam's Rib," Cecil B. DeMille's new society drama, we have at last a picture devoted to the defense of the modern young woman vulgarly called the "Flapper." Milton Sills, Anna Q. Nilsson, Theodore Kosloff, Elliott Dexter and Pauline Garon are in the cast. A cut-back to the neanthropal age shows that love was then very much what it is now. Don't miss "Adam's Rib," though it is possible that Adam may have done so.

SATURDAY

Charles Jones in "The Footlight Ranger," is the attraction for Saturday. A snappy action picture is always a treat, and this one is no exception. Fritz Brunette is the leading lady, well-remembered for her part in "The Old Homestead." A two-reel comedy is also included on the program.
